4. For washing hands it is greatly superior to any common Soap, as it does not chap, but has a tendency to soften the skin.

5. It cannot be surpassed for removing Ink, Tar and Grease Spots, also for cleaning Parits.

6. The supercrity of this Soap consists in its not containing any excess of alkalies, and the materials made traceing it more mild than any other known.

7. It is undoubtedly the best Family Soap extant, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction, or the money will be refunded.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.

Washington, Dec. 11.

If the Gelf Stotes carry out their purpose of scores on with the view of a Southern Confederacy and territorial expansion, they may be confronted by an unexpected turn of affairs. There is reason to believe that in sixty days after Lincoln's inauguration, the stars and stripes in such event may float from the City of Mexico over an American protectorate, solicited by the people there, and with the full acquisecence of the great European Powers. It will be found difficult to expand in that direction.—[Washington Correspondent of Tribune.]

THE HAVEN OF RUNAWAYS .- A girl, aged bout 14 years, was united in the bonds of natrimony to the man of her choice a day or two since, at the Gathright House, in this city. It was a runaway match, and the parties eloped from Indiana. The manner n which they evaded the law is rather curious, and vet, we are told, that it was done The law of Kentucky requires the woman to have arrived at the age of twenty-one years, or have the consent of her parents or guardian. This girl chose a guardian—a gentleman of this city kindly consenting to act in that capacity. He gave his con-sent, and thus license was legally obtained, and they were married. As the sympathies of mankind are with young perons who want to put their heads in the marriage noose, it is easy to get a guardian for any girl who elopes. This being the case. It has been in careful preparation for a long time, and from the manner in which every piece has been put upon the stage during the present season, we have every assurance that nothing will be wanting in the mise en scene of the "Enchantress," to render it worthy of the most liberal patronage on the part of the public.

Douglas' Opinion of Lincoln—The Views of the President Elect. In his speech at Chicago, July 9th, 1858,

Mr. Douglas, replying to Mr. Lincoln. Said:

In other words, Mr. Lincoln advocates boldly and clearly a war of sections, a war of the North against the South, of free Styles against the South, of free WAR OF EXTERMINATION—to be confined whether the slave of the confined whether the same of tinued relentlessly, until one or the other shall be subdued, and all the States shall either A week after the election, it was deemed Whether Mr. Douglas understood an sure thing that Breckinridgehad carried the State. correctly stated the position of the Presi-dent elect at that time, our readers must decide for themselves after reading the following extracts from his speeches.

In a speech at Peoria, Ill., in October 1854, Mr. Lincoln thus declared in favor of the equality in the Government of the white man and the black man-of the "master" and the "slave:"
What I do say is, that no man is good enough to govern another man, without the other's consent. I say this is the leading principle, the SHEET ANCHOR of American Republicanism. Our Declaration of Independence says:
"We hold these truths to be self-evident—that all men are restorders.

to time." The stakeholder advises the Kentuckian of the demand; the latter, however, believing from the "latest news" that he had won, won't concur, but writes that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, LIBERTY, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights Governments are instituted among men, DERIV the bet must stand, and the North Caroli nian is informed of his conclusion. This letter reaches him when it is announced that six Breckinridge electors were chosen. North Carolina believes he has the "dead ments are instituted among men, DERIV wood" on the Kentuckian, and promptly sends a messenger to the stakeholder for the checks. He arrives, and acquaints the man who holds the checks of his business. But, presto change!—the latter points out the latest telegraphic news in the morning papers, stating that the Breckinridge electors refuse to serve, and

I have quoted so much at this time merely to show that according to our ancient faith, the powers of Government are derived from the consent of the governed. Now the relation of master and slave is, pro tando, a total violation of this principle. The master not only governs the slave without his consent, but he governs him by a set of rules altogether different from those which he prescribes for himself. Allow ALL the governed an EQUAL VOICE IN THE GOVERNMENT; and that, and that only, is self-government.

The doctrine of the "irrepressible conflict" was boldly enunciated in his speech at Springfield, Illinois, in June, 1858, at the close of the Black Republican Convention, which nominated him as a candidate Virginia!" Isn't that diamond cut dia-We learn from the Lafayette Courier that the County Auditors on the line of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago tion, which nominated him as a candidate for the United States Senate, as follows: Railroad met at Greencastle recently to for the United States Senate, as follows:

We are now far into the fifth year since a policy was initiated with the avowed object and confident promise of putting an end to slavery agitation. Under the operation of that policy, that agitation has not only not ceased but has constantly augmented. In my opinion, it will not cease until a crisis shall have been reached and passed. "A house divided against itself cannot stand." I believe this Government CANNOT ENDURE PERNANEETLY half slave and half free. I do not expect the Union to be dissolved; I do not expect the fung or all the other. Either the opponents of slavery will arrest the further spread of it, and place it where the public mind shall rest in the belief that it is in the course of ULTIMATE EXTINCTION, or its advocates will push it forward till it shall become alike lawful in all the States, old as well as new, North as well as South.

Rev. Dr. W. T. Leacock's Thanks-giving Sermon. We promised a few days since to give the public through our columns a report of the Thanksgiving Sermon of Rev. Dr. LEACOCK, of New Orleans, preached in Christ's Church in that city, November 26th. Dr. LEACOCK is an eminent Episco palian minister, and is well known to housands of Kentuckians, who have listened to his eloquent expositions of the Word of God, and can testify to the purity of his life and the disinterestedness of all his conduct. Below we give his sermon as reported for the New Orleans Delta : REV. DR. W. T. LEACOCK'S SERMON.

A day of Thanksgiving—one day of every year set apart for the expression of a na-tion's thanks to the God and Father of our spirits, grows out of the nature of God's blessings to men. Some of his blessings are individual blessings, and for them in-dividuals should be thankful every day.

Let us take these benefits as they are enumerated. Who has not cause to praise God for this forgivenes of his iniquities? Take this forgiveness in the lowest and most limited sense—in the sense of simply arerting from us the temporal consequences of our errors—who has not cause to praise God in this?

Who would not have lowered himself in the estimation of others—who would not have marred his own prospects and diminished his own happiness—if the consequences of every unadvised word and act had been visited upon him? Who has not cause to praise God for disease escaped, or for sickness bealed, during the past year? Who can tell how near he has been, even in the broad blazed noon, to that destruction from which the providence of God has rescued him? Which of us, even among those who have endured the heaviest sorrows, and shed the bitterest tears, can not discover, one comparing what we have experienced with what we have deserved, or even with what we might have expected, will not find a large amount of loving kindness and of tender mercies, for which he is a debtor to God? And if the mouth be not literally satisfied with good things, how can we tell that the things which we most desired were really good? Who can tell that the love of the creature, which he is seeking, and with which he is yet unsatisfied, may not deceive him as it has deceived others? Who can tell that the affluence which he had accumulated, but which has been snatched from his grasp, might not have destroyed his soul if it had been retained? Who can tell that the object of his secret aim, whatever it might have been, that was irrespective of God, and from which he now seems farther off than he was twelve months ago—that this might not have destroyed his soul if it had been retained? Who can tell that the object of his secret aim, whatever it might have been, that was irrespective of God, and from which he now seems farther off than he was twelve months ago—that this might not have been the rock upon which, if he had struck, he might have not be e ing, and prepared us with a refuge. The agitation of the slavery question of the slavery question of the slavery question was first mooted in our national councils, we dreaded the consequences and trembled at the bare mention of the subject of slavery as well informed on the subject of slavery as well refused the subject of slavery as all property is slimid, negro property, under the circumstances of our ignorance, was cowardly, and therefore the moment this property was invaded in discussion it made us cowards, and as a band of cowards we were for imploring silence from our adversaries, and thus our cowardice only gave them courage to make their attacks more frequent, and more and more severe. But the question has been sired to its very foundation, and we now feel ourselvessafe; we feel that as Christians we can hold them, and this feeling has dissipated our cowardice and given us an advantage over our adversaries; we shun them not now, we fear them not only on constitutional grounds but on reason, on religion, on expediency, and dare them to their face to dislodige us from our position.

But how have we been placed in this position? Have we always occupied it? Nother was a time when we saw no metery in 60d's permitting the subject of slavery to be brought before the public mind for examination; but it has been examined, and we now see the mercy—mercy in having our own minds fortified—mercy in calming down the opposition of the wise and virtual to the free to di

NUMBER 223.

While the truth-seeking, truth-loving portion of the community are convinced that our position is of a character which can not be changed, and therefore should not be tampered with, there are others who, regarding not the truth, and following nothing but there own prejudices and interest, have invaded our rights—invaded them by deceiving an ignorant but honest portion of our countrymen to unite themselves for the support of a band of robbers and assains to murder and to rob.

They have murdered our people—they have robbed them—they are robbing us—but what is the result of their combined action? This, the slaves themselves have been so deceived by them as to fear them, and are now, many of them, unwilling to trust them; and the masters, seeing the facility with which the slaves can escape, have so endeared themselves to their slaves and are now, many of them, unwilling to trust them; and the masters, seeing the facility with which the slaves can escape, have so endeared themselvesto their slaves as to make them unwilling to leave their service, which they know, for a condition which they know not. I speak of the border States, and all who live there know what I say to be true.

Now, what is more alarming thanto have a body of thieves let loose among us, pensioned by some, assisted by others, and encouraged by their own mistaken views of religion and philanthropy, to commit such depredations upon us! Yet what have they done? Great injury, to be sure, but great good also. And while we should deplore the evil, should we not also be thankful for the good?

But we have another cause for thankfulness. You and I thought, a few months ago, that the Abolitionists were few, compared with the population of the North; and whenever we expressed any fears for our condition, we were answered—"Oh, the Abol.tionists are comparatively few, and by their very numbers and insignificance utterly powerless." We allowed ourselves to be lalied into slumber under this assurance, forgetting that we were slumbering on the very crater of a volcano. But this election has shown the force—has shown, not only their numbers, but their power. They have come upon us like an avalanche, and the suddenness of their appearance and the number of their body have awakened us to action—awakened us in full time to check 'their destructive career. And shall we not be thankful? Suppose they had gone on increasing, and lulling us all the while by the fancied pancity of their numbers, and then have burst upon us when the whole North had been absorbed by their formidable appearance at a time when we have yet friends in the North; but those friends, powerless of themselves, and only waiting action on our part totake position by our side; and is not this a subject of thankfulness. When we consider the treatment we hare received from the hands of our enemies; our character they have defined; year et apert, for the expression of a national year to gray the control of the patter of our spirits, grows out of the nature of God's providence has been greated as the control of the pattern of the state of life in which it has pleased Him to call us; and there is no state of life, tate of life in which it has pleased Him to call us; and there is no state of life, there is no circumstance in which we may not give praise to God—(the tradesman in the conduct of his business—the artisan in the practice of his craft—the parent in the government of lis household, or in the instruction of his child—the domestic in the performance of her most menial service—the beggar in receiving a Christian charity—the exhausted and suffering inmate of a hospital in the endurance of a protracted and agonizing disease—all may give themselves up to God's service)—for we do this when we act uprightly, when we labor diligently, when we rule middly, when we obey cheerfully, when we suffer patiently, when we submit ourselves to the will of God in the afflictions and visitations of life, and are only concerned to tions of life, and are only concerned to glorfy Him through faith in his Son, Jesus permitted to make a remark before I close. But a few weeks ago I counseled you, from this place, to avoid all precipitate action; but at the same time to take determined action—such action only as you felt you could take with the conscious support of reason and religion. I give the counsel mined action—such action only as you felt you could take with the conscious support of reason and religion. I give the counsel still. But I am one of you. I feel as a Southerner. Southern honor is my honor—Southern degradation is my degradation. Let no man mistake my meaning or call my words idle. As a Southerner, then, I will speak, and I give it as my firm and unhesitating belief, that nothing is now left us but secession. I do not like the word, but it is the only one to express my meaning. We do not secede—our enemies have seceded. We are on the Constitution—our enemies are not on the Constitution—our enemies are not on the Constitution—and our language should be, if you will not go with us, we will not go with you. You may form for yourselves a Constitution; but we will administer among ourselves the Constitution which our fathers have left us. This should be our language and solemn determination. Such action our honor demands; such action will save the Union, if anything can. We have yet friends left us in the North, but they can not act for us till we have acted for ourselves; and it would be as pusillanimous is us to destroy our friends as to cower before our enemies. To advance is to secure our rights; to recede, is to lay our fortunes, our honor, our liberty, under the feet of our enemies. I know that the consequences of such a course, unless guided our rights; to recede, is to lay our for-tunes, our honor, our liberty, under the feet of our enemies. I know that the con-sequences of such a course, unless guided by discretion, are perilous. But, peril our fortunes, peril our lives, but, come what may, let us never peril our liberty and our honor. I am willing, at the call of my honor and my liberty, to die a freeman; but I'll never, no never, live a slave; and the alternative presented by our enemies is secession or slavery. Let it be liberty or death!

Finale of the Barch Divorce Case.

The verdict in favor of Mrs. Burch at Napierville, Ill., was received with wildapplause. The verdict was antonneed to Mrs. Burch by Gilbert C. Davisson, Esq., of Albany. She was entirely overcome, and her mother, Mrs. Turner, rushed into her daughter's arms in a food of tears. In a few minutes, the Jury visited her at the house of Mr. Skinner, and were presented, many of them unable to control their emotion, and weeping like children. The immense crowd poured in until the house was filled to its utmost capacity, and amid tears of joy and passionate exclamations of delight, congratulated Mrs. Burch, who stood like one stupefied at the flood of sympathy and hosts of friends pouring in upon her. Mr. Browning and several of the counsel were unable to speak—Mrs, Burch, herself, speechless with joy and emotion. Finale of the Barch Divorce Case.

Mark Berubien, who kept the old tavern in Chicago thirty years ago, and who was beside himself with joy, announced about eight o'clock, that the band was in readiness to serenade Mrs. Burch at Sleight's Hall, whither the crowd adjourned. The large hall was filled to overflowing, and the multitude, headed by the band, thence proceeded to Mr. Skinner's residence. The band took their station in the grounds, the crowd remaining outside.

After playing several airs the door opened and Mrs. Burch appeared, leaning upon Mr. Beckwith's arm. She was wrapped in shawls and received the crowd one by one, who congratulated her again and again. A large number of ladies visited her, and unable to control their feelings could only clasp her in their arms. The congratulations lasted until a late hour, and the crowd then adjourned to the New York House, where an impromptu cyster supper was served and all was joy and hilarity, untila late hour in the night. Before the close of the supper, an honorary committee of the first ladies and gentlemen of the village was appointed to escort Mrs. Burch to Wheaton.

VAGRANT.—Geo. Ott, an old man without sufficient clothes to keep him from freezing, was presented to the Court as a vagrant. The Judge did not have sufficient proof to hold him over, but George preferred going to the workhouse, and howent of his own accord, with the privilege of leaving when he got tired.

A New View.—The Richmond Whig pronounces for a preservation of the Union, if possible; if not, for separation— but not for secession. Its views are thus

And if, through the instrumentality of these various conventions, we cannot effect an adjustment of the differences and difficulties existing between the North and the South, then we are in favor, not of secession, but of separation upon fair and just terms to be arranged by the aforesaid Convention of all the States. In the terms of separation, if no adjustment can be had, and separation must come, we shall demand a fair and equitable division of all the property of the United States, including, of cours, the South's just proportion of the army and navy. If such division of the army and navy, and of all the public property of the United States, including likewise the public domain, should be refused us by the Northern States, then we shall be in favor neither of peaceable secession nor of peaceable separation, but of immediate war, and war to the knife, and war to the "bitter end."

war to the "bitter end."

When the South will Treat.—Tho Mobile Register referring to some appeals from Northern correspondents, in hope of justice in the Union, adds:

"We have put our hand to the plough, and there can be no safety in looking back. In dwelling on this subject the reflection constantly uprises in our mind, the old Union is broken up by the votes of the people, North and South. A new Union is possible, but a new Union can only be made by the States after they have resumed their sovereignty and declared their independence. To treat with the North for an adjustment in the Union, and to await a happy result, would be as hopeless and as insane a task as it would be to negotiate with Queen Victoria or the Emperor of France to resign their sceptres, and consent to the overthrow of the British Constitution and the Imperial Government.

"After Southern Independence is declared, we may treat with any and all foreign States."

The COURIER office has been removed to the new buildings erected especially for our use, on the south side of Green street, below Third, next to the Custom House and Post Office, and nearly opposite the Journal office.

The manifesto of a number of Southern Senators and Representatives in Congress, which appears this morning in our telegraphic columns, was not needed to convince those who have dared to look the facts of recent occurrence full in the fact, that in a few weeks at most the American Union as at present constituted will be at an end. But like a "fire beil at night," it will startle from their fatal slumbers that portion of our fellow-citizens who have been blinded to the inevitable tendencies of the times by their wishes or their fears, and new, when it is too lake, thousands of men who have put their trust in demagogues, and been deceived by them, will realize the nature and extent of the cataster who have put their trust in demagogues, and been deceived by them, will realize the nature and extent of the cataster who have put their trust in demagogues, in the address of the Southern members of Congress, are but recently from among the people, and are tamiliar with the intentions and wishes of their constitutents: their action indicates the course which their respective States will pursue. [For the Louisville Courier.] Gov. Magoffin on Secession. There are some points in Governor Maffin's letter to the Frankfort Yeoman which have not yet been noticed or controverted, but ate too important to let pass. While approving his main positions and the general tone of his letter, it is not proper to let it reet upon false or unsound arguments. The substance is contained in the following extract:

"Mr. Lincoln has been elected according to all the forms of law under that Constitution which we revere and regard as the depository of our rights and the shield of our satety; and notwithstanding his threats and the danger of carryin; but his principles, he may not do it. We must wait for an overt act, hopfing that truth and reason and instice, embodied in a clear and impartial delineation of our rights under the Constitution, as expounded by the Supreme Court of the United States, will yet prevent it. A madman or a bad man may stand in the highway adjoining my premises, and he may threaten to burn my house or rob me of my property, and yet I may treat him as a blusterer, who would not execute the threat. When he makes the attempt—when he actually crosses my fence and advances upon my property to execute the threat—then will it be time enough, and then will I be justified in shooting down the villain."

To this there are two pregnant objec-

2d. That the "madman or bad man" who threatening us, is not in the highway, but in the family, and about to assume contro of it. The question is, shall he have it It is not necessary to elaborate these propositions. The force of both are obrious on the mere statement. There may be good reasons to sustain the position of Gov. Magoffin; but if so, he has not given them. In fact, they are fatally conclusive the other way, to the mind of a

The Journal, utterly unable to answer the "facts, and arguments, and appeals" of the letter of the Hon. Thomas F MARSHALL, recently published in this pa per, attempts to disparage them by attack ing the consistency of Mr. MARSHALL him self. As the letter is clearly entitled to al the weight due its "facts and arguments, great or good is entitled to more, we nee enter on no defense of the brilliant author of this elaborate and able production.-The Journal itself, if we mistake not, ha been quite as inconsistent as Mr. MAR SHALL; but its inconsistency detracts nething, and should detract nothing, from the weight of its "arguments and facts," if, indeed, it deals in such at all. As we said in an introductory reference to the letter of Mr. MARSHALL, we differ om some of the positions he assumes but it is as the Journal justly says, "like all the productions of its author," "brilliant" and "able," and we are sure its extensive circulation at this time will result in good. We earnestly advise our friends in the State to give it as much publicity as possible.

The Journal says the "amenities o the prize ring are getting in vogue with politicians," and in that connection compares a reported interview between two tinguished American statesmen to the meeting of two prize-fighters before comng " to the scratch.' What kind o amenities" does the Journal practice towards political opponents?

Politics makes strange bedfellows The Journal quotes freely from the writings of Andrew Jackson and the letters of Anos Kendall. How long has the Journal regarded Jackson as a patriot, or believed that KENDALL is a statesman?

Letter of Secretary Cobb to the Peo-Hon. Howett Cobb, who has just re signed the position of Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, has addressed a long letter to the people of Geor-gia, from which we find the following exracts in the New York Herald :

He says:

Can there be a doubt in any intelligent mind that the object which the Black Republican party has in view is the ultimate extinction of slavery in the United States: To doubt it is to that the imputation of hypocrisy and imbedlity upon the majority of the people of every Northern State who have stood by this party, through all its trials and struggles, to its ultimate triumph in the election of Lincoln. I am sure that no one can entertain for them individually or collectively less personal

Again, he says:

Again, he says:

I know that there are those who say and believe that this party is incapable of exercising the power it has obtained without breaking to pieces, and they look confidently to its overthrow at an early period. It may be that a cool philosopher, located at a safe distance from the scene of danger, may reason plausibly upon the chances of overthrowing a party so utterly unworthy of public confidence, but men looking to the security of their property, and fathers and husbands anxious for the safety of their families, require some stronger guarantee than the feeble assurance of partisan speculations to quiet their apprehensions and allay their fears. This may be the case, but unfortunately for the future peace and security of the South, the causes which may lead to its dissolution and defeat arise outside of the slavery question. So far from the question of slavery leading to such a result, it is the only subject upon which the party thoroughly harmonizes. Hertility is tion of slavery leading to such a result, it is the only subject upon which the parity thoroughly harmonizes. Hostility to slavery is the magic word which holds them together, and when torn to pieces by other dissensions, hatred to the South and her institutions swallows up all other troubles, and restores harmony to their distracted ranks. On this point we are not left to mere conjecture. The history of the party in the ten nullifying States affords practical proof of the fact. In which of these States did the Black Republican party lose power in consequence of their acts repealing the Fugitive Slave Law and nullifying the Constitution of the United States? So far from their anti-slavery legislation being an element of weakness, it has proven in all these States the Shibboleth of their strength.

Union formed by our fathers was one of equality, justice, and fraternity. On the 4th of March it will be supplanted by Union of sectionalism and hatred. The one was worthy of the etupoort and devotion of freemen, the other can only continue at the cost of your honor, your safety, and your independence. Is there no remedy for this state of things but immediate secession? Noth worthy of your conservation has been suggested, except the recommendation of Mr. Buchanah, of new constitutional guarantees, or rather the clear and explicit recognition of those that already exist. This recommendation is the counsel of a patriotic states man. It exhibits an appreciation of the cvils that are upon as, and at the same time a devotion to the Constitution and its sacred guarantees. It conforms to the record of Mr. Buchanah's life on this distracting question—the record of a pure beart and wise head. It is the language of a man whose heart is overwhelmed with a sense of the great wrong and injustice that has been done to the minority section, mingled with an ardent houe hid desire to preserve that Union to which he has devoted the difficulty is that there will be no response to it from those who alove have in their power to act. difficulty is that there will be ne response to it from those who alove have it in their power to act. Black Republicanism is the raling seatiment at the North, and by the election of Lincoln has pronounced in the most formal and solemn manner against the principles which are now commended to the country for its safety and preservation. As a matter of editisether will spurnall these words of wisdom and patriotism, as they have before turned their back upon all the teachings of the good and true men of the land, or else they will play with us in their insidious warfare te delide the South into a false security, that they may the more effectually frivet their iron chains, and thereby put resistance in the future beyond our power. They have trampled upon the Constitution of Washington and Madison, and will prove equally faithless to their pledges. You ought not, cannot trust them. It is not the Constitution and laws of the United States which need amendments, but the hearts of the Northern people. To effect the first would be a hopcless undertaking, whilst the latter is an impossibility. If the typeal of the Yesidout resame, Infortunately how a different resames. cetions of the country, we might hope for different response. Unfortunately, how ver, Black Republicanism has buried bro herhood in the same grave with the Contitution. We are no longer brethrer welling together in unity. low-citizens of Georgia, I have en ored to place before you the facts of e case in plain and unimpassioned lar age, and I should feel that I had don ee to my own connections, and been ful to you, if I did not in conclu ion warn you against the dangers of de ty, and impress upon you the hopeless eas of any remedy for these evils short of ecession. You have to deal with a shrew ness of any remedy for these evils short of secession. You have to deal with a shrewd, heartless and unscripulous enemy, who in the extremity may promise anything, but in the end will do nothing. On the 4th day of March, 1861, the Federal Government will pass into the hands of the Abolitionists. It will then cease to have the claim either upon your confidence or your loyalty; and in my honest judgment each hour that Georgia remains thereafter a member of the Union, will be an hour of degradation, to be followed by certain, speedy ruin. I entertain no doubt either of your right or duty to secede from the I your right or duty to secode from the nion. Arouse, then, all your manhoor or the great work before you, and be pre ared on that day to announce and main in your Independence out of the Union you will never again have equality are still in it. Identified with you in hear ling and interest, I return to share whatever destiny the future has in sto for our State and ourselves.

id the separation, and in their hearts

Hon. Herschel V. Johnson on the Election of Lincoln and the Seces-sion of the South. Hon. HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, late a candidate for Vice President of the United States, has written a letter to August Bel-MONTE, of New York, in which he says: MONTE, of New York, in which he says:

The people of the South do not desire to break up the Union. They are sufficiently attached to it, and would prefer it, if it can be shown that they can be allowed peace, safety, equality and their constitutional rights. Recent developments have driven them to desperation. A calm consideration of a few points will disclose the ground of their exasperation and the reason that they have lost confidence for the future.

son that they have lost continent of the future.

1. The anti-slavery sentiment of the North, from feebleness at first, has continued to grow stronger, until it has grasped the reins of Government, and threatens to consummate its long sighted policy of chelition. 2. It amounces distinctly that the South is to be excluded from expansion into the common Territories, and that no more slave States shall be admitted into the Union.

3. The Republican platform announces the equality between the black and white races, and in some of the States free negroes, in the exercise of the elective franchise, have contributed to the election of chise, have contributed to the electric many have approved and few condemned—the raid of John Brown upon unoffending citizens of a sister confederate.

5. In palpable violation of the Fugitive Slave Law of Congress and utter disregard of their Constitutional obligation, a majority of the non-slaveholding States have passed "Personal Liberty Bills" or other acts to hinder and obstruct and prevent the surrender of fugitive slaves.

Now the election of Lincoln, per se, would not excite so much indignation and alarm at the South but for the fact that it gives a fearful and terrible significance to these propositions which I have stated, and which cannot be devied. Add to these the abuse which the South has endured for years; the Abolition emissaries that frequently perambulate our section to excite insurrection and scatter firebrands in our towns and cities; the streams of poison and hate which are poured all over the land from the exhaustless fountains of the anti-slavery press, and is it singular that our people are exasperated? Is it not strange that they have endured these things so long? Boes history farnish any similar example of patience? The truth is, the South is tired that they have endured these things so long. Does history furnish any similar example opationes? The truth is, the South is tire of this agitation—this ceaseless interfer ence with her domestic peace and tranquility—this eternal effort of the Republicans of the North to get power for the avowed purpose of aggressing upon her constitutional rights. The patience of even conservative men in our midst is threadbare. They be gin to think and to say, if there is to be mend to this distracted and uniust agitation it is as well to separate from the Union-that it is but a question of time, and, ther

It is as well to separate from the Union—that it is but a question of time, and, therefore, the sooner the better. I have given you but a faint picture of the state of things in the South. Language cannot portray the reality. Men of the North, unacquainted with the workings of our social structure and the true relation of negro labor to capital, cannot fully appreciate what I am seeking to portray.

I have brighy stated to you the grounds of Southern discontent, and endeavored to impress you with the depth, breadth, and intensity of that discontent. It is all-obsorbing. It overshadows everything. The voice of party is silenced by the mighty muttering of its sulten and indignant thunders. The South is thoroughly aroused, and though there are differences of opinion as to the policy of immediate secssion, yet there is but one sentiment in relation to the work of coming to a retlement in full with the Republicar States of the North. The time has come when men, North and South, must look the issue full in the face. The Washington City correspon dent of the Cincinnati Commercial, in hi letter of the 10th, says:

detter of the 10th, says:

Gloomy and forboding letters promote the general despondency. Kentucky members are receiving despondent letters daily, describing the tendency at home to dissolution. Last night Senator Crittenden received a letter from Ex-Gov. Morehead, of Kentucky, from Louisiana, in which he bewailed the wide spreading calamity, saying, "All is lost—Louisiana too will go." In short, the conviction that the Union will soon be separated by the line which divides freedom from slavery is so general at Washington that it is not exaggeration to describe it as universal.

Mr. Johnston on Liming.

I commenced liming about 30 years ago by experimenting with 20 bushels on half an acre. That half acre looked so much better the next spring that I contracted for 900 bushels for the succeeding fall, and put it on at the rate of 40 bushels to the acre. That gave me a great crop on land that wassaid to have been cropped thirty years without any manure; I then got lime for nine cents per bushel, taking a whole kiln at once. I kept liming until I had all the old land limed, and it paid well—the first crop always paying well for the cost, besides making much more straw to increase the manure. The last I limed was fourteen years ago, I then made an experiment with 100 bushels to the acre on two acres, and 35 bushels to the acre on the remainder of the field (16 acres). The two acres with 100 bushels to the acre on the remainder of the field (16 acres). The two acres with 100 bushels to the acre on the remainder and poorest part of the field I presume it would have all lodged. Although lime siffenst the straw much, the wheat is clearer, plumper, and of finer quality. A good liming will last from 20 to 25 years, and then the land may require 20 to 25 bushels to the acre. I said that if I was a young man I would lime ail my unlimed landat the rate of 80 bushels to the acre. It would be little cost for a few hundred farmers in Western New York to each try 25 bushels on half an acre of wheat this fall; and next harvest, and in all probability long before, they would see the result. There is nothing that I can say, or any other man can say, that will convince men like their own experience. LIST AND WOOLEN RAG CARPET.

Man makes use of leaves in his diet to but a limited extent. Prof. Johnstone remarks: "Leaves are generally rich in gutten; many of them, however, contain other substances in smaller quantity, associated with the gluten, which are unpleasant to the taste, or act injuriously upon the general health, and therefore render them unfit for human food. Dried tea leaves, for example, contain about twenty-five per cent. of gluten, and therefore, if they could be eaten with relish, and digested readily, they would provens strengthening as bears or pens."

The Cobbage.—Prof Johnstone also says of this vegetable; "It is especially nutritions; the dried leaf contains, according to my analysis, from 30 to 45 per cent. of gluten, and is, in this respect, therefore, more nutritious than any other vegetable food, which is consumed, to a great extent, by men and animals. I know, indeed, of only two exceptions, the bushroom, which, in its dry matter contains sometimes as much as 50 per cent. of gluten, and the dried canliflower, in which the gluten rises as high as 64 per cent."

probable that we have yet all the acquisitions that are possible or desirable. The common goat, which in parts of the Old World supplies the poor with milk and cheese, food and clothing, cannot be considered a very valuable animal with us; but the wool bearing goats found in Thibit, Cashmere, Chinese Tartary, Turkey, and Pereia in Asia, of which there are many varieties, could they be acclimated in this country without losing any of their valuable qualities, would, no doubt, be a great acquisition. The Cashmere goat, which is probably a superior breed, was brought to acquisition. The Cashmere goat, which is probably a superior breed, was brought to the United States by Dr. Davis, of South Carolina, in 1849, since which three they have been crossed with the common goat, mulliplied to some extent, distributed into a number of States, and exhibited at many of the Edirs. As yet, nothing definite has been determined as to the result of the experiment, yet we cannot but hope that portions of the country bordering on the Alleghany and Rocky mountains, and many portions of the Southern States, more or less barren, will be suitable for them. They have been found to do best in the monutaineys regions of a ways, country. The deg, of lat. Those taken to a warm, level country, cease to produce the most valuable portion of their wool. The chief value of the Cashmere goat consists in its wool, which can be manufactured into Indies' clothing, of great beauty and durability, and is capable of receiving and retaining coloring matter in a higher degree than any other wool. It is long, silky, and white, and at its base grows the precious down, from which the pure cashmere shawis are made. The quantity of this down is very small, not exceeding a few ounces, and the best shawls made from this are worth from $1,000 to $2,000. It was these shawls which the General of the French

(for it is yet an experiment) be fully and fairly tried. Meantime, we caution all owners of goats from running the question into a "goat speculation," that they may realize immediate returns. If this is done, it will become a "humbug." Innocent men—men who have no knowledge and no ability to conduct the matter properly—will be induced to buy goats at high prices, when they really have the least value; money will be iost, and disappointment will of course follow. We have already been sufficiently humbugged with Rohan potatoes, Baden corn, Morus multicaulus, Shanghal chickens, etc. Let those living in the proper localities, who have means at their disposal, and a disposition to be public benefactors, enter into the enterprise, but let all others wait till the risk is over, and the experiment a success. We give below a short article, which is modest and honest.—[Ohio Farner.

Leaves-Leaf Stalks.

Many kinds of leaves abound in princi-ples adapted for animal nutrition, as is shown by the extent to which cattle are grown, sustained and fattened upon the cauliflower, in which the gluten rises as high as 64 percent."

The cabbage and cauliflower, lose in drying, more than 90 per cent. of water, and the dried residue, according to Pereira, is remarkably rich in sulphur, as well as nitrogen. The plant decays quickly, and gives out a strong odor of putrifaction, owing to its nitrogenious and sulphurous compounds. Decayed cabbage leaves should therefore not be allowed to remain in cellars, or lie about in the vicinity of dwellings.—[Ohio Farmer.

It was these shawls which the General of the French army found in his campaign in Egypt, and the British found in India, that first brought these goats to the notice of Europeans, though their wool had long been used in the kingdom of Cashmere. In 1819 they were introduced into France, and subsequently into England, but in neither of these countries did they retain their original value, though in France a portion of the wool used the Cashmere manufactories is obtained from them, while a still larger portion is imported from Thibet.

We repeat again, their introduction into this country would be a great acquisition, provided our climate is adapted to them. even by the pure bloods; also a second cross that can hardly be distinguished from an imported animal; the fleece can be raised in this country with a fineness approximating to that which it has ever attained in Asia under the most favorable circumstances. It is soft, and as fine as silk, and equally glossy, and of a silvery whiteness, and from eight to fifteen inches in length. The fabric manufactured from this material, is not only the most beautiful, but the most durable in the world, and it is the union of these two qualities which makes it so costly. These goats are extremely frugal, living upon weeds, briars, and all the different grasses, the coarser preferred; I kept about seventy head last winter, and they did not consume more than sixty shocks of fodder. I consider them the hardiest, most productive, and existence. The River is rising quite fast, though checked by the cold weather, with fully eight feet water in the canal by the mark last evening. During the previous twenty-four hours the itse at the head of the falls had been twiste inches, and at Portland three feet, hasking an excellent stage of water. The weather was clear and very cold all day, being in fact one of the coldest of the season. at Cincinnati, yesterday, the river had risen five feet eight luches, which will make a sufficient rise here to render the fulls navigable this evening or to-morrow for accuding boats, fully confirming our previous estimate.

At Pittsburg, yesterday, the river was falling, with eight and a half feet water in the channel, and the weather cold.

The J. H. Lucas, new ited up on the falls, will be able to ascend the pass today to seek her way to the Abolition port of Pittsburg, where the machinery is to be placed in a pew boat, we understand.

The Cumberland at Nashville, yesterday, was on a stand, with three and a half fertwater reported on the shoals. The J. A. Fisher, with a new shaft, had departed for Padneah, and the humbar hamed boat, the Paducah, and the humbag hamed boat, the Prince of Wales, had arrived from New Orleans, and returns Southward. We see by the Cincinnati Commercial that the Argyle has accepted the invitation of leave of absence from the citizens of of leave of absence from the citizens of New Orleans, and has laid up. The N. W. Thomas and City of Madison havy also laid up at Cincinnati. The Westmoreland, a new boat all the way from Pittsburg, is due on her way South.

The Lehigh, from St. Lonis, and Madison from New Orleans, are over due.

Jana for New Orleans.—The Diana, the unrivalled Louisville passenger packet, in charge of the gallant Capt. Sturgeon, her sole owner, takes her departure to New Orleans direct to-morrow, Sunday morning, at ten o'clock. She starts from Portland, providing confortably and sumptionsly for passengers, having been built especially and expressly to meet the wan, of the Southern tradeand travel, and being an out-and-out Louisville boat, and cannot be surpassed, if equalled, in any good quality. O. L. Smith, Esq., the clerk, is an accomplished gentleman, as well as a thoroughly experienced clerk, and will provide passengers with good rooms and see that they are properly attended to.

ANOTHER DISASTER—THE SOUTH BEND SUNK—A TOTAL LOSS.—Dispathes were received from Memphis yesterday, an-tonneing the loss of the little stern wheel uth Bead, Capt. Haines, in the steamer, South Bead, Capt. Haines, in the Mississippl, some twenty miles above Memphis. She is reported a total loss, and was bound for the Arkansas river from Cincinnati, and left this port Tuesday, having received considerable freight at this port, inabading a lot of boots and shoes from Warren, plows from Avery's factory, and sundry lots of merchandise shipped by Nock, Wicks & Co., Terry, and others, all of which was insured here. The boat was probably owned in Cincinnati. She was a small craft.

The Cincinnati Commercial has the nunderstand, met on Wednesday evening, and resolved to make a reduction of fifty dollars per mouth in their wages en all steamers until bus-iness revives on the river. The amount speci-fied is a reduction from the wages of the en-gineers and assistants, not from the salary of each officer.

The Golden State is now plying be ween Memphis and White river. The following in regard to the Mississippi is from our St. Louis exchanges:
The officers of the Platte Valley report about 25 steamboats in the river between this port and Cairo, a large proportion of which are aground, and the others just as badly off.
We learn that the steamer Sunshine, Capt. Carson, swung around against the New Sam Galy at some point near Crawford's, and both boats were considerably damaged. The Chancellor, Capt. Malborn, is use from New Orleans to-day. She reurns South on Monday evening. For some time past but very little freight has been stored on her, and in consequence the seams above the water line were open. The flenry Choteau, Sunday evening, discharged the freight saved from the Flying Cloud on her, which sunk her so low that the water poured in through the seams in torrents, and she gradually settled and sunk. Her larboard guard is cutirely under water, and she lies on a pile of dirt placed in the river at the time the wharf was graded.

chilrely under water, and she lies on a pile of chilr placed in the river at the time the wharf was graded.

Of the Flying Cloud's freight—composed of 1,200 sacks corn, 500 barrels flour, and a lot of miscellaneous freight—a great portion was saved, although in a damaged condition. The boat was insured against fire, but not against water. The total loss, it is estimated, will amount to between $5,000 and $6,000.

The "lower wharfboat," as it has been familiarly known for some years, has had chequered career. She was formerly the St. Louis, and was built more than ten years since, by the late Capt. George Taylor. She raw or three years, when her career as a boat came to an untimely end. While lying at the Quarantine Ground, one of her boilers exploded, and killed a vast number of people on board of her at the time. She was subsequently repaired, but fell into discredit, and was dismantled. She was used as a wharfboat at Cairo, for and the climb of the care of the time she has lain where she sunk last night. Some two years since she was purchased by Messrs. J. Smith, Wm. McLean, and J. T. Bourne, who disposed of her to Capt. N. J. Vanarnam, late of St. Louis, and by whom she was owned at the time she sunk.

Exchange on the East and South rules at all rates, from 1 to 10 per cent, premium. Bank checks are 1@2 premium to regular customers, in a small way; outsiders paid 7@8 premium in bankable funds, and as high as 10 premium in Hilmois currency. Yet, as a general thing, there was not that difference between currency and bankable funds to-day, some heavy dealers taking currency at only 1 discount. The range, however, at which currency was sold and bought varied from 1@3 per cent. The rejected Hilmois money is still unsaleable.

Provisions:

The market for hogs opened pretty active at $5.25 for first class, and one lot sold as high as $5.25 for first class, and one lot sold as high as $5.25 for first class, and there were a few more sellers than buyers at close, at $5.25 for lots averaging 200 Bs and upwards. The sales comprised about 2,000 head, and the receipts 7,850. By reference to the particulars of the market published in another place, it will be seen that hogs average very high. This is the result of late feeding. Hogs having been held back, and the weather favoring, corn was used freely, and the weather favoring, corn was used freely, and the consequence is, the avera 'e weight will be 15 to 20 per cent. greater than last year. A drover toid us to-day that in his part of the country he found it difficult to obtain small hogs enough to fill a contract calling for 240 B averages, and he remarked that he would rather agree to furnish 300 B than 240 B hogs. Orders from New Orleans gave tone to the market for mess pork, which opened at $14 and advanced to $14 25, with sales of 1,000 bbls. At the outside figure the demand was met freely, and the trade closed rather tame. Green meats closed steady at $4\cdots$, with sales of 1,000 bbls. At the outside figure the demand was met freely, and the trade closed rather tame. Green meats closed steady at $4\cdots$, for shoulders, sides, and hams. The Chicago Tribune says: The receipts of hogs, live and dressed, during the past week, amounted to 17,672, against 15.530 received the previous week, and 29,584 during the corresponding week in 1839. The total receipts of hogs, live and dressed, from the 1st of November till date for four years, compare a follows:

The receipts of hogs, live and dressed, to day, amounted to only 1,918. Under this light supply and a fair inquiry both by packers and shippers, live hogs were firm, with sales at $4.20\omega 4.75 gross. Dressed hogs were also firm, and in some instances an advance of 12\omega 4 was paid, the sales ranging from $4.75 to $5.50.

Daily Review of Louisville Market. FLOUR AND GRAIN-The market is rathcr firmer, with sales of 125 bbls. flour at $5 20@5 25; 500 bushels new ear corn at 45c; 300 bushels oats at 33@35c, sacks included. There were no sales of wheat reported.

This being the anniversafy of the death of Washington, delegations of Free Masons from the different States met here to day to honor his memory, and pledge their influence in the promotion of harmony and fraternal teeling.

The Committee of Thirty-Three and the majority in Congress will stand by Mr. Rust's resolution as a basis of compromise. The extreme Republicans and the secessionists oppose it.

There is a rumor that Zenator Douglas will, in the Senate, declare it to be the duty of the President to resist secession by force of arms.

There is good reason to believe that Gencass intends resigning his position as Secretary of State; indeed, it is reported that the President has been so informed, but that he will endeavor to dissuade him from this course. There is no doubt that the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Trescott, has resigned.

Washington Gessip.

Washington Gessip. New YORK, Dec. 13. — The World's Washington correspondent says: The secessionists and anti-secessionists have been in great excitement over the capital to-day, concerning the requi-sition of Major Anderson, commander at Fort Moultrie, for more men and ammuni-tion, and the action of the Cabinet thereupon. It is stated, on authority which I think is not to be disputed, that Maj. Anderson has decided upon the necessity of reinforcement to his command and his supplies, because when the secession ordinance shall have been passed, there is no security that a Charleston mob will not make a desperate onslaught mon, the no security that a Charleston mob will not make a desperate onslaught upon the nearest Federal possessions.

The queston of acceding to Major Anderson's request has been up before the Cabinet, and it was decided not to grant it. Secretary Cass, it is asserted, strongly urged the propriety and necessity othe opposite course, whether Major Anderson was justified in making the requisition or not.—If justified, his request should be granted at once. If not, then he is incompetent to fill his place, and it should be snapplied by some one who would not make a demand in troublesome times, so long as he is in authority. The means of asserting his authority should be conceded to him in spite of these arguments, which are unanswerable.

was made and signed by those present. It had already been presented to the Com-mittee of Thirty-Three: Southern Manifesto-To our Constitu ents: The argument is exhausted. All hope of relief in the Union, through the agency of the Committee and congressional legislation or constitutional amendents, is extinguished, and we hope the ments, is extinguished, and we hope the South will not be deceived by appearances or the pretense of gnarantees. The Republicans are resolute in their purpose to grant nothing that will or ought to satisfy the South. In our judgment, the honor, safety, and independence of the Southern people are to be found only in a Southern Confederacy, the inevitable result of State secession; that the sole and primary aim of

By the papers by the Star from Panama, we learn that the China Congress had extended extraordinary powers to the President until Sept. 30th next. Both houses had sanctioned the bill by which authors or abettors of mutinies, riots, or seditious movements are jointly answerable for the damages caused thereby. Congress has also sauctioned the project presented by the government for sending a minister to the court of Rome.

The dates from Callao are to Nov. 14th. Mr. Clay would leave in a few days on the Wyoming, homeward bound.

The revised Constitution of Peru has been accepted and sworn to, and published. Congress has, in secret session, conferred extraordinary powers on President Costilla with reference to the present difficulties with Bolivia. It is, therefore, thought that Costilla will not content himself by simply overthrowing Delinares, but will probably tryto annex Bolivia to Peru. A letter from Lama says that Costilla is to raise an army of 30,000 men to oppose against Bolivia, and it is thought he will be victorious in the coming struggle.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 13.—The Senate has adopted a resolution appropriating half a million dollars for the exigencies which secession may create.

Large secession meetings were held last night at Sarannah, Columbus, and Atlanta. So far the meetings have been more conservative than secessionism; however, they are in favor of resistance in some form.
